Keep Yamo<sup>TM</sup> Products available to EU Residents

Sponsored by: Not the Norm Ltd

About the petition

"It is the greatest of all mistakes to do nothing because you can only do a little."

"Do what you can."

Sydney Smith 1771-1845 English Writer.

Yamo<sup>TM</sup> is due to be banned outright from sale within the EU in 2011 when legislation on Traditional Herbal Medicines and Novel Foods come into full force. Yamo<sup>TM</sup> is a natural, side-effect free, traditional, herbal product from Ghana which was introduced to the UK in the mid 1990's by Mr Jerry Yamo, a postal worker in South London. Jerry's grandmother in Ghana had used the gum tree bark effectively for respiratory ailments on villagers, and Jerry introduced it to friends and colleagues at work, with remarkable results.

Since then, Yamo's popularity has grown through word-of-mouth and internet exposure, and many thousands of people in the West have benefited significantly from both short and long term use. In so many cases, respiratory health has been restored and people have regained an ability to function and live normally again through short term or occasional use of Yamo<sup>TM</sup>, oftentimes without the need to continue taking it. In our opinion this is real healing, and not the kind of money-making symptom-masking that pharmaceutical companies are so well versed in. You just need to read some of the comments on this petition to realise how passionate people are about this product, and how important it has become to them.

In order to remain on the market we would need to have been marketing Yamo<sup>TM</sup> in the EU for a minimum of 15 years and then have a license to sell it at the cost of £400,000.00 in order to undergo testing to pharmaceutical standards. As a very small company, even if we have been around long enough, this is out of our league. Getting investment to have Yamo<sup>TM</sup> approved is near impossible - who wants to invest in a product that cannot be patented, as it's simply a naturally occurring plant which anyone can grow, harvest and market, unlike expensive patented medicines? Who has the right to patent tomatoes??

Removing Yamo<sup>TM</sup> from the market will mean that 1000's of people who currently want to take responsibility for their health into their own hands, at no cost to the tax payer, and unsubsidised by the government, will be at the mercy of Big Pharma and their drugs that people are expected to remain on for the rest of their lives, at great cost to the tax payer, and great cost to their long term health through unwanted side effects.

Please sign and forward this petition if you believe everybody should have the freedom to choose a natural, effective and harmless product to support their own and their loved ones' healthy respiratory function. If you believe this is not going to happen, think again. Yamo™ is just one of thousands of products that will be banned or dampened down next year, and for more information on the impact of the EU legislation on your freedom of choice, go to the Alliance for Natural Health website - <http://www.anhcampaign.org>. Thank you for signing this petition. It won't guarantee anything, but it could help if the ANH are successful with their campaigns.

Comments: I have used Yamoia for several years now due to my severe hayfever.
- I generally do not believe inn herbal mremedies, but with all conventional hayfever drugs being ineffective, I thought it could be worth giving Yamoia a shot. At no other point in my life jhas such a stab in the dark had such a positive effect on my life, Yamoia wiorks flawlessly, and though not cheap, it is worth every penny and more.
- The EU pressure group is now taking a dictatorship stance, which could hinder my quality of life, great.

Reading things like this USED to make me happy that I was a US citizen--unfortunately I currently see our government following a similar road to restricted personal freedoms and can no longer feel "safe" from this type of governmental tyranny. After taking Yamoia powder once for three months, i no longer have allergies. It is simply extraordinary, and the government either knows nothing about Yamoia or has has been grossly misinformed. I attribute my cure partly to changing my diet but by far mostly to the Yamoia. It was only after I started taking Yamoia capsules that I not only got significantly better, I got "cured." One could see great improvement within weeks, and sense the ease in breathing immediately.

Comments: We are struggling to survive in what is now undeniably a culture of death. This is a tyranny unsurpassed in history and is clearly intended to shorten lives and give tyrants control of human populations on a global scale. How poignant now are the words of Jesus to the women He met on his ascent up Calvary to be crucified: "Weep not for me but for yourselves and for your children."

The only way to improve my health has been through vitamin and herbal supplements which I have learned about through reading many books on the subject. These supplements have proved invaluable. It would be very detrimental to many peoples health for any of the vitamins and herbal supplements to be taken of the market.

Comments: I am a 76 year old woman who had asthma for many years and was taking doses of inhalants and other medications as prescribed by my physician. They had the effect of making me nervous and increasing my blood pressure and heart rate, without actually improving my asthma condition in any substantial way. I heard about Yamoia from a health newsletter and sent for it. After taking two courses of Yamoia, in the amounts as recommended, I experienced a substantial improvement in my long-standing asthma condition, and without any side effects. I am now practically asthma free, but I do keep a supply on hand in case I get a bronchial infection due to catching a cold. Alongside a couple of other natural remedies that I use, I have found that Yamoia is very effective in shortening the duration and severity of bronchial bacterial infections, thus avoiding the unnecessary use of antibiotics which do have serious side effects. I sincerely hope that Yamoia will continue to be available and that others will have the opportunity to benefit from it as I have.

Comments: It is suprising to me that the EU is taking such a backward step in relation to control over natural, proven safe, nutritional supplements/herbs like Yamao. Being from the USA, most folks here used to look to the European (German) systems as an enlightened way to provide: safety, availability of beneficial natural foods and herbs, and reasonable marketing guidelines (Since our own multi-agency controlled system here in the US is pretty dysfunctional). Sadly, following the new EU logic, one would imagine hosts of common herbs and vegetables that have only more recently in the last 15 year been discovered to have health/medicinal benefits would need to be pulled from the shelves. Sorry, take away the Tomatoes(Lycopene) or pay an absurd amount for a licence to sell them as a new EU &quot;controlled substance&quot;.
Ironically in the case of Yamao, the socialized healthcare systems of the EU will suffer many times over - Asthma sufferers will require more clinic visits and more pharmaceuticals to try to control Asthma symptoms, that in turn cause additional problems (throat infections/thresh, headaches, heart palpitations, weight gain and increased risk of infection/steroids, and higher risk of death/salmeterol). That in turn require more Clinic and HOSPITAL visits and again more pharmaceuticals to treat the side affects. Hopefully there is additional thought and modification that will be put into this before 2010.

Thankyou for your attention.

Comments: We declared war on Germany in 1939 to restore and preserve freedom in the UK and the World, This atrocity of legislation, which would make it impossible for products such as Yamoia, a natural product that has shown positive effects for relieving symptoms of asthma, to remain easily and economically available to consumers. Perhaps Hitler survived WWII, and he is now making his final push to destroy our freedom.

I believe that in the future, ours will be viewed as the dark days of medicine, because of over-reliance on barbarous treatment with pharmaceutical drugs that are insufficiently tested and often cause great harm. Natural products should not be banned, their use should be encouraged, and honest information about their appropriate use and efficacy should be provided.

The combination of the natural remedy with the prescribed one completely controls my problems, regardless of the actual pollen count. I will be very worried if I cannot obtain more supplies.

After taking the pills for 2 months my asthma was gone and I no longer needed to take the Rx I had been on for years. The only time I get a touch of asthma is when I catch a cold/cough. Then I order a one month supply and it miraculously alleviates the asthma once again. The US had similiar legislation like this trying to go thru years ago and thanks to an uproar from believers/users of natural healing products nothing was banned. It takes a village.

I've used a Nebulizer with 4 different prescribed meds for 3 years from every 4/8 hrs. for my Asthma,. Now going as long as 37 hrs w/o having to use it. Also, No ER visits for mos.!!

I look forward to doing away with the Nebulizer & possibly using only Pro Aire if needed.

Comments: I think everyone should have the right to use natural products/food supplements. As a medical transcriptionist, I learned of the many harmful, devastating and often fatal side effects of Rx drugs. I take none of them and have no intention of taking them. Big Pharma makes quite enough money, so I see their desire to make natural products illegal motivated by greed, not by concern for the people. Has every country on the planet gone crazy for power and control??

Comments: freedom of food sales including herbal products if regulated by Pharma companies who lobby Governments, will only lead to less sales of pharma products as people understand the long term side effects as compared to natural products. Due to the information age, knowledge by internet sharing is destroying the effects of manipulation via legislation. Even if all herbal products were banned people can self harvest or use food as medicine. The World is a Global financial crisis, eliminating small business is not the answer, restricting freedoms is not the answer. I have never known a government that did not eventually collapse, in the end freedom always wins.

The FDA or any other organization can not or should not have control over each and everyones freedom of choice. We the people will stand up and fight for our freedom to keep our Pharmaceutical Companies and Congress back from controlling our God given right to help and heal ourselves as we choose. The Pharacuticals have too much control as is. Never mind taken away our rights to buy or sell natural products. This is Communism in disguise. I own a Vitaim store and see and hear peole everyday helping themseves and getting cured by their choices of Natural Nutrients. Our Government and WORLD have no right to limit or take away what grows here on this earth to heal ourselves with. Who do the Pharmaceutical Companies think they are when medicine's origin came from herbs to begin with. Now the medicines are synthetic and killing all of us.
